PROTECTING FAIRNESS IN GIRLS' SPORTS

IL26-638 would ban biological boys from competing in girls' sports by requiring the student athlete's doctor to note their gender during their routine sports physical. This initiative protects girls while still ensuring that transgender youth have avenues to compete on an appropriate playing field.

PROTECT FAIRNESS: Every female athlete in Washington deserves a fair playing field, yet more than 110,000 girls are increasingly required to compete against biological males.

PROTECT SAFETY: Girls continue to raise legitimate concerns about privacy and safety when required to share locker rooms with biological males under current law, but Governor Ferguson and State Superintendent Reykdal have turned a blind eye.

PROTECT PROGRESS: Title IX was designed to protect and expand opportunities for female athletes, and ignoring the law threatens to reverse decades of hard-won progress.

PROTECT THE FUTURE: Allowing biological males to compete in girls' sports undermines competitive fairness and diminishes the integrity of female athletics statewide.

PROTECT OPPORTUNITY: Increased participation by biological males in girls' sports limits scholarships, awards, records, and roster opportunities that Title IX guarantees to female athletes.
